Getting around in Munich
If you are planning to get around, or if you need to use public transport to commute between your hotel and TUM, you should ask the service staff at your hotel for the best ticket.

Additional information on this topic can also be found on the website of Munich’s public transport company MVV (www.mvv-muenchen.de). The website offers information in German, English, French, Italian and Spanish.

Transport to and in Munich

Arriving by airplane at Munich Airport

- Continuing by public transport
  When you walk out of the baggage claim area, just follow the green S-Bahn sign. There are ticket machines of Deutsche Bahn right next to the escalators that lead down to the tracks. The easiest way is buying the “Airport-City-Day-Ticket”. It costs 10,80 € and is valid from the moment of purchase until 6 am the following day in S- and U-Bahn, buses and the Tram.

- Continuing by taxi
  Getting a taxi at Munich Airport usually is not a problem. Just walk straight out of the baggage claim area and you will see them standing outside the door. The distance from the airport to TUM is around 40 kilometers (= 25 miles). The fee will approximately amount to 55-60€.

- Continuing by Lufthansa Shuttle Bus
  Besides the common public traffic there is a private Shuttle Bus to Munich main station (Hauptbahnhof). Although the name refers to the German airline “Lufthansa”, the use of this bus is open to everyone.

  ➔ If you take the Lufthansa Shuttle Bus, please be aware that this is a private service and independent from the Munich public transportation system! So you cannot use the common public traffic tickets in this bus!

Arriving by train at Munich main station

- Continuing by taxi
  If you like to choose the most comfortable way, you will find a lot of taxis outside the main station (Hauptbahnhof). It’s only a 5 minutes’ drive to TUM.

- Continuing by public transport
  TUM is just one station away from the main station (Hauptbahnhof). Take the underground line U2 to Feldmoching and exit the train at Königsplatz. Continue in the direction of travel, walking further north on Luisenstraße. Turn right into Gabelsbergerstraße, and left again into Arcisstraße (see detailed walk on the map below).

- Continuing on foot
  Instead of using a taxi or the underground line, you might as well fancy a walk of about 15 minutes, following the map below.

If you are not sure what to do, you can also find information desks close to the ticket machines.
